GRANDMA NEUTKENS SAYS...

This building has a long history. Nobody knew the story better than the grandmother of the co-owner Willem Neutkens, Corrie Neutkens van Beers. Corrie sadly passed away at the age of 93.

Corrie: "In 1952, my husband, Willy and I, rented the building from his auntie for 15 florins a week. We opened a small store, where we sold heaters, household products and three bikes.

After a few years we stopped selling heaters and household products and decided to focus more on the bikes. Around 1956, the moped was introduced and because everyone wanted one, we decided to add them to our range. In 1958, motorbikes became very popular, and Willy was very fond of them, he became the specialist in motorbikes whilst I managed the normal bikes.

It was hard work back then. During the day in the store and in the evening, we had to do the administration whilst looking after a family of five children. However, I did enjoy doing it and wouldn't change a thing.

In 1964, our store was too small, so we expanded it by adding an extra room. At Motorpaleis Neutkens, the customer was number one. A lot of the time our last customer only left at 23.00 h. Back then, we didn't own a car, so I had to cycle to Eindhoven for spare parts for the motorbike. At a certain age we decided we were too old, and our son Jan took over the business.

After we moved to Veldhoven with our shop, the family Beukers bought the building. I believe it's very appropriate that Willem, Jan's son, and my grandson, together with Bart and the family Beukers, have given the building a new lease of life. I am very proud that the building has been named 'Bij de Neut'."
